

Since January 2019, Adfinis SyGroup has also been active in French-speaking Switzerland

Bern, March 11th, 2019

Adfinis SyGroup, one of the leading open source service provider in Switzerland, now has an office in Crissier (VD). Together with EDIFICOM, the network and datacenter specialist, Adfinis SyGroup can deliver solutions more agile and flexible in the french part of Switzerland.

From hardware and network to operation

Adfinis SyGroup's Open Source services, operations and system management can be seamlessly integrated into EDIFICOM's network infrastructure and cloud solutions to provide customers with customized solutions. The core competencies of Adfinis SyGroup in combination with EDIFICOM thus cover the entire range from network to operation – the optimal contact point for all customer needs.–

«As a managed service provider originating from network infrastructure and security solutions, and now with a rich portfolio of cloud solutions, we were looking for a complimentary Open Source partner that delivers customized solutions», says Carsten Buchenau, CTO at EDIFICOM, «With Adfinis SyGroup we like their focus and their dedication through their valuable competences in Open Source solution.»

The partnership with EDIFICOM made it possible to establish a strong partnership and network in the French-speaking part of Switzerland. The partnership will allow both companies to continue to grow and guarantee the high quality of the services offered.

«In order to further strengthen our position as one of the leading Swiss Open Source service providers, we are intensifying our cooperation with EDIFICOM to support organizations in their digitalization strategy with the combined expertise in French-speaking Switzerland. As a managed service provider, EDIFICOM is strongly anchored in the French-speaking part of Switzerland and is an ideal addition to our partner portfolio, enabling us to better position our Open Source expertise in the French-speaking Switzerland», announces Nicolas Christener, CEO and CTO of Adfinis SyGroup.
